Note:

All students are to complete 60 credits per semester; commence dissertation in the spring semester.

Whilst the University realises that students may find it necessary to work in order to support themselves, they must not arrange
- any employment, or
- other activities that will cause them to be unable to attend and engage with required activities or undertake required private study.

Students with Recognition of Other Learning (ROL; credit exemption) will need to wait until the module(s) that they wish to take are available before they can begin their studies. This applies to the dissertation module as well.
