The abolition of the Board of Trade is found to be very impolitic and inconvenient. We have at this moment no officer responsible to the representatives of the people for the conduct of our commercial concerns with foreign powers. Lord Sydney has absolutely refused to do the business of the Board of Trade in his department. The office established by Lord North under the conduct of Mr. Elliot, a very intelligent and experienced servant of the public, has only our plantation business to manage. The consequence of our having no ostensible Board to superintend our foreign trade, is found very injurious to the merchants trading to European ports. The office of Consul is become a mere cypher; for the representations made by the gentlemen who act in this capacity, are not attended to, our Secretary of State not thinking proper to burden himself with the management of an affair to which he feels himself unequal. Something must be done in this affair, and that speedily; for a capital house in the city, concerned in the Italian and Spanish trade, has been seriously injured by certain new regulations that have taken place with respect to the imports from Great Britain. The matter has been represented, as we are well informed, by the resident Consuls, to our Ministers, but to no purpose. A memorial is preparing upon the subject, to be laid before the Treasury, and it is not improbable but that it will be the subject of an enquiry in the House of Commons.

Impositions, to a very considerable amount, have been discovered on the Exchequer. The annuities payable at this office were always discharged without any enquiry; but on examination of the entry book where the accounts are kept, it appears that very considerable sums have been paid after the decease of the annuitant. This having been represented to the Lords of the Treasury, the subject was taken

A message was yesterday sent from a Great Personage to enquire after the health of a certain law luminary, about whom the public are at present so solicitous. His Lordship, sensible of the honour done him by such a mark of Royal attention, is said to have answered, That he was not worse than he had been for these two months; that he never could expect to be better; and that he was not half so ill as public report had lately made him.

It is recommended to the trustees of the turnpike between Wycombe and Marlow, either to lower the toll of the enormous sum of eightpence for a chaise and pair, or to make the road passable. This recommendation is meant seriously, and if it is not attended to, a complaint shall be made in another form. Feasting and gormandizing, and drinking, are the worst auxiliaries that ever were employed to repair a road.

Extract of a Letter from Forres, Dec. 23.

"The following very extraordinary circumstance happened in a country village near this place. The wife of a farmer who had attained her 53d year some time in August last (and who had been married upwards of twenty-one years) was last week brought to bed of a sprightly boy; and, what is still more remarkable, her husband has not had any connexion with her for nineteen months back, and she utterly denies her having known any body else. It is generally thought that it will end, by her being dismissed as soon as she is thoroughly recovered; and the inclemency of the weather will admit."

The inclemency of the present season gives the opulent an opportunity of gratifying their feelings, by exploring the habitations of their fellow creatures, and wiping the tear from the cheek of silent penury and want. If the covetous man could, but for a moment, feel those exquisite sensations of delight which possess the heart of benevolence, in the exercise of this godlike quality,

Monday evening John Lee was apprehended in St. John's-street by Mr. Lucy, on suspicion of being one of the gang who this night was three weeks rushed into the house of — Rice, Esq. of Tooting in Surrey, and upon being opposed, fired at and dangerously wounded the coachman and another servant, the former of whom has lost the sight of an eye by the wound he received from a pistol ball. Being next day examined at the public office, Bow-street, the prisoner was committed to New Prison for re-examination on Saturday.

We learn from Liverpool that a Mr. Span, on his way to Ireland, was attacked near Prescot by four ruffians, part of a daring banditti that infest that part of the country, and was robbed of cash and bank notes to a considerable amount, and otherwise most barbarously treated.

IRISH INTELLIGENCE.

Dublin, Dec. 30. Yesterday an order to respite, for eight days, the execution of Francis Byrn, who on this day was to suffer death for robbing the mail on the first of January last, was issued from the Castle. This respite, it is said, is in consequence of some favourable circumstances having appeared on his trial.

We have the pleasure of informing the friends of Ireland, that the free and independent Electors of Newry had a meeting last Friday at the Town-hall, and in spite of ministerial threats, proceeded to choose five gentlemen as their representatives in Congress, which will certainly fit for the dispatch of business on Thursday the 20th of January. These delegates are, the Right Honourable William Brownlow, of Lurgan, Isaac Corry, Francis Evans, James Moody, and Robert Stewart, Esqrs. of the town of Newry, all good men and true, who in a just and righteous cause, will not, as David says—be ashamed to meet their enemies in the gate.

Resolved II. That every Parishioner ought to have a vote in the election of his Minister.

Resolved III. That the settling a Minister in a Parish, without the consent of the Parishioners, is often productive of the worst consequences, both to religion and morality.

Resolved IV. That this meeting will concur in every legal and constitutional measure to obtain a redress of the intolerable grievance of patronage.

Resolved V. That the thanks of this meeting be given to Robert Beatson, Esq. for his spirited and becoming conduct in the whole of this business.

Resolved VI. That the thanks of this meeting be given to Bailie James Peden, for the trouble he has taken in calling them together, and for his support and countenance on this occasion.

Resolved VII. That these resolutions be published.

W. RITCHIE, Clerk to the Meeting.

COUNTRY NEWS.

Leeds, Jan. 1: Thursday se'nnight was married, at Rochdale, Mr. James Royde, of Falinge, to Miss Mary Smith, of Summer Castle, near Rochdale.—Two other brothers of Mr. James Royde have likewise lately married two sisters of Miss Smith.

Thursday night last set out, on a matrimonial expedition to Gretna-Green, Mr. Cook, of Grantham, a young surgeon and apothecary, with Miss Clarke, the daughter of Mr. Clarke, at the George-Inn. They were accompanied from Newark by another couple on the same errand. It is somewhat singular, that the two gentlemen agreed to change places in the chaise, and one of them rode a post horse every stage.

Friday night last a terrible fire broke out in the warehouse of Mess. Hadfield merchants. at
